Local children meet new friends, expand comfort zones at YMCA Camp Minikani Winter Camp

Thursday, Dec. 21, 2017 (Milwaukee) – From Dec. 27-30, about 65 children from ages 7 to 15 years old will meet friends and experience new activities, such as snow-shoeing, horse sledding and cross-country skiing, at YMCA Camp Minikani’s Overnight Winter Camp.

“While most kids are normally inside between the holidays—breaking in new gifts and enjoying a break from school—we spend most of that time outside together tromping around in the snow and having a lot of fun,” Summer Camp Director Peter Drews said.

The counselors, all of whom were once Minikani campers, will guide the experience for campers as they gain a sense of independence by being away from home for an extended period of time.

“We find that campers, especially returners, develop a sense of ownership at Winter Camp that fuels their confidence and expands comfort zones,” Drews said.

In addition to a handful of adventures at Minikani, the group will also take a trip to Sunburst Ski Area in Kewaskum, Wisconsin, where they will snowboard, ski or snow-tube.

Campers and counselors will celebrate their last night with a ”New Year’s Eve Eve Eve” dance party, which includes a camper-created carnival and homemade ball drop.
